Courthouse Women Ired Over Salary For Male

Paul Ferguson, manager of Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge, takes a soil sample from the middle of the dry lake bed to send to engineers for study. The samples are part of an effort to determine how to maintain the lake.

Charging that "just because you wear pants doesn't mean you're that valuable," several female Randall County employees complained this week they are being discriminated against in the salaries they are drawing.

The women, who declined to be identified, said they will call for a meeting of the Randall County Salary Grievance Committee if they receive assurance that their jobs will not be in jeopardy by doing so.

They feel, though, their bosses should go to bat for them to obtain higher salaries.

Primary focus of the women's ire is the $530 per month salary drawn by Richard Mason, who is an administrative assistant in the Randall County clerk's office.

Mason, a county employee less than a year, began his job at a salary of $450 per month, but through two pay raises in two months has been raised to the $530 level.

Several women who are chief deputies or head secretaries in various Randall County offices also make $530 per month, including women employees who have been with the county for many years.

"You can't tell me the young women in these offices don't need the money as much as he does," one female employee said.

One female employee noted that while Mason has been administrative assistant to County Clerk LeRoy Hutton for only six months, his salary is equal to what many of the women employees make after several years.

"He's not the chief deputy, he's the administrative assistant," said one female employee.

"But, he's making as much as the chief deputy. I think the chief deputy in the clerk's office should be the highest paid since he must have the responsibility."

Another female employee said she feels Mason receives the $530 salary simply because he is male.

"I say the person who has the responsibility, the knowledge and skill should be paid according to that and not according to sex," she said.

"I don't see how in the world he could have the responsibility I've got," said another. "My feeling is that this is a very specialized field and I don't think just anybody could walk in here and do it."

One female employee complained that Mason's position and job description doesn't justify his high pay.

"I think that just because you wear pants doesn't mean you're that valuable," she said. "The only way I'm in accord with women's lib is that I believe you should be paid for what you do, not according to sex."

The women agreed either their bosses should go to bat for them before Randall County commissioners, who set the salaries for all employees, or a meeting of the Salary Grievance Committee, established by state law, should be called to resolve the matter.

"I don't want to get a lot

Part Of Funds Given Buff Lake To Be Used For Improvements

A $70,000 budget has been appropriated for the maintenance of Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge for the 1973-74 fiscal year and part of those funds will be used to rejuvenate the now-defunct lake.

Refuge Manager Paul Ferguson said he has received word that his appropriation for the fiscal year, which began last July 1, will be about $7000 less than his appropriation for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The current federal fiscal year is already more than half finished, and Ferguson has been waiting for about four months for word on his appropriation.

He said he anticipates a like amount will be appropriated for the lake's operation through fiscal 1975.

Ferguson said the appropriation for the lake may be increased by several thousand dollars this year to provide cost-of-living wage raises for the refuge employees.

While the lake appropriation remains about the same as last year, Ferguson noted that activities at the lake which call for expenditure of funds have been drastically reduced since the lake was allowed to drain last fall.

Therefore, he said, the lake budget will include items to expend along with other federal funds to improve the lake.

"Under the circumstances now we don't need that much," Ferguson said referring to the status of the lake and the amount of appropriation.

"No water will cut down on the public use activity," he said.

Regional refuge officials ordered the lake drained last fall after a massive fish kill last summer which rid the lake of thousands of planted catfish. Officials drained the lake fearing an outbreak of dread duck virus and realizing that without additional water input the lake would stagnate.

"We're going to throw some of these funds into other programs that will improve the lake," Ferguson said.

He said the funds might be used to improve the lakebed, which is now incompatible with a healthy water environment.

Ferguson said he hopes any improvements can get underway at the lake before spring rains hamper activities.

Buffalo Lake, long a Panhandle fisherman's paradise, has been in trouble since the late 1960s when run-off from upstream cattle feedlots polluted

Regional Official Says Plans On Lake Go Slowly

A regional official with the federal Department of Interior affirmed this week his office is "very much" interested in keeping Buffalo Lake open and alive for birds and man, but said plans for improving the lake are not proceeding as rapidly as anticipated.

Vick Kay of the regional office of wildlife refuges in the federal system, said studies are continuing to improve the lake in terms of water quality and habitability by wildlife and man.

Federal officials were expected to reveal their future plans for the lake during a press conference sometime this month.

Kay indicated the approach for the problem is to determine whether a new water supply for the lake is available, what can be done to keep the water supply from becoming as stagnant as previous water in the lake, and how to keep the water useable for the thousands of ducks which annually flock to the lake to winter over.

"We know that a different supply of source of water would be an advantage in the lake," Kay said. "Engineers are looking at some things. I'd rather not get into them until they're more con-

Chamber To Honor City's Top Citizen

Canyon's outstanding citizen for 1973 will be named and honored at the annual Canyon Chamber of Commerce banquet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday here.

The banquet will be at the dining hall on the West Texas State University campus.

More than 400 persons are expected to attend the banquet, which will feature the naming of the citizen of the year and a speech by Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, president of WTSU.

Directors of the chamber met last month to name the outstanding citizen to be honored Saturday night. Local service clubs and women's organizations submitted nominees for the honor.

Tickets for the banquet are still available and will be sold at the door Saturday night. Tickets are $5 each and may be obtained from the local chamber office, from the office of Dean Weldon Trice on the WTSU campus or from local chamber directors.

Chamber Manager Roland Black said the menu for the evening includes roast beef, catered by the university food service.

"High Education: A New Game With Uncertain Rules," will be the speech topic of Dr. Watkins, who has been president at WTSU since August 1973.

It is expected to be Watkins' first major speech to Canyon citizenry since arriving to assume the reins of the school last year.

Beams for the roof of Canyon's under-construction First Presbyterian Church went up this week and workmen move them in place. The church is expected to be completed by later this spring.

Heading for Houston next month for the Texas Music Educators Association convention are five Canyon High School musicians who have won all-state honors. They include, from left to right, Steve Baird, who was selected to perform with the All-State Orchestra, and bandsters Mike Word, Brad Garner, Vern Zimmerman and Leslie Baird, who were selected for the All-State Band in auditions held last Saturday in Lubbock.

Bicentennial Committee To Plan U.S. Birthday

Plans for ways Canyon residents can celebrate the nation's 200th birthday in 1976 will be under way as soon as a committee of locals can be formed to begin preparations.

Dr. Duane Guy and Dr. John Green of West Texas State University and Mrs. Margaret Harper of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation will begin work shortly on naming a committee to set the plans in motion for locals.

The three are currently serving on a bi-centennial committee in Amarillo and will establish a local committee to work closely with Amarillo in coordinating bi-centennial efforts.

Dr. Guy said this week he expects the committee to be named in the near future to begin work toward the 1976 celebration which he would like to see climaxed in a giant 4th of July festival.

An Amarillo committee has been working for several months on possible ways to celebrate the bi-centennial but Guy said the need was felt for more localized committees to plan local activities.

Currently, no funding is available for the activities of the local committee, Guy said, and that may be a first topic of discussion for the new committee.

"It's easy to come up with projects, but the funding is something else," he said.

Guy said three separate subcommittees will probably be organized under the general committee: One for heritage, such as re-

Airy Roadblock In Way Of 15th

State highway officials are up in the air over the latest roadblock in approval of construction of an overpass on 15th Street in Canyon to link the Hunsley Hills area with downtown.

But, they hope to be back down on earth in time to let bids for the construction project in March.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has withheld approval of the project until highway department officials can accomplish an air quality study of the 15th Street area.

"They put us in the same category as Los Angeles or Philadelphia," said Ed Timmons of the THD Amarillo regional office. "We have to do the same things."

In recent years, numerous requirements have been placed on state highway departments when they propose construction of a new road. Among those requirements are requirements from the EPA, requirements which mean environmental impact statements must be prepared to show that a proposed highway will not adversely affect the environment.

Timmons said the THD is now working on the latest mandate from the EPA for the 15th Street overpass, long awaited by locals to ease a hazardous traffic situation at the intersection of 15th with U.S. 60 in the north part of the city.

That mandate is that the THD work up an impact statement to show how the

I am forever losing things — notebooks, pencils, my billfold and especially keys.

If it weren't for Mrs. Castleman I would never have a notebook. Joan has been my secretary for a dozen years now and she can find my notebook in about three minutes on an average.

My wallet and my keys I have to find myself, if they are found.

I always allow about five minutes each morning for finding my billfold. I just shut my eyes for a few minutes and try to figure out the least likely place for me to have put it the night before and I usually find it there.

There is still a lot of speculation as to whether the fuel crisis is actually real. Ralph Nader — a man for whom I have little respect — says the oil companies are just trying to boost the price.

Oil has been produced on an unrealistic basis for a long time.

Most of our new oil discoveries are being made in deep pay wells these days. I'm no oil expert but friends who are producers say it costs about a half million dollars to sink a deep pay well.

Couple this with the fact that many wells are sought to find one producer and it adds up to oil exploration being one expensive business.

Just like anything else, you cut the profit off and you destroy the incentive to produce.

Supply of fossil fuel is definitely limited even if the shortage is not as acute as we are being led to believe. Some time men must harness other sources of energy or it is back to the cave.

It looks at present like man must find energy in nuclear and solar sources.

The young man who writes City Desk for The Canyon News is excited because Randall County Commissioners gave themselves a raise.

I'm still more concerned about the fact that commissioners are still getting $100 a month expense money, an expense allowance once granted because commissioners had a lot of driving to do in overseeing roads in their respective precincts.

A few years back the court decided to hire a road superintendent and adopt the unit system. Now commissioners are not responsible for road maintenance in their precincts. The superintendent is responsible to the court as a whole for their upkeep.

The expense check continues. I'm not against paying commissioners' expense if they are actually incurred. I am categorically against paying any claimed expenses not accounted for in writing down to the penny — whether it is in the form of tax forgiveness for the President, stamps for legislators or a check drawn on the county and payable to Randall County commissioners.

Richard Nixon is not going to resign and though charges of impeachment may be brought, he will not be convicted.

The credibility gap — what with tape erasures — has become a chasm but I don't believe the American people will stomach the removal of the President.

If credibility is a qualification for being President, then we haven't had a qualified chief executive since Herbert Hoover.

Four CHS Bandsters Named To All-State

Four Canyon High School music students will be heading for Houston in February to perform in the All-State Band at the Texas Music Educator's Association conference.

The CHS bandsters were selected for the state's top band ensemble in area auditions held last Saturday in Lubbock.

Of the seven CHS musicians trying out for the group, the four students named to the All-State Band were Brad Garner, flute; Leslie Baird, clarinet; Vern Zimmerman, clarinet, and Mike Word, baritone saxophone.

Participating in Saturday's auditions were over 200 students representing high schools throughout the area, which includes the Amarillo, Lubbock, El Paso and Midland-Odessa public schools.

Feb. 7-10 in Houston. At that time, the students attending will be divided into two ensembles, a Symphonic and a Concert Band. Each group will consist of about 110 students who have demonstrated the highest calibre of musicianship in the Texas public schools.

According to CHS band director, J. W. King, the Canyon High School band students have consistently made a strong showing at the area auditions. In 1971, CHS had more students in the All-State Band than any other school in the area.

The two All-State groups are slated to perform before Texas Music Educators in a concert slated Feb. 10. Also performing will be the All-State Symphonic and Concert Orchestras.

One CHS student, Steve Baird, was selected to perform as French hornist in the All-State Symphonic Orchestra in auditions held last year.

Chair assignments will be made at the TMEA meet, slated

Action Postponed On Pioneer Rate Hike Bid

City commissioners postponed action Monday night on a Pioneer Natural Gas Co. request which could raise costs to local consumers by a few pennies a month.

A steering committee encompassing many West Texas cities has recommended that the gas company be allowed a monthly rate adjustment, action which the committee for the last three months has recommended be postponed.

Commissioners are expected to consider the company request at their next regular session.

City Manager George Loudder told The News the rate adjustment, if passed by the city, will mean a hike of a few pennies per month for the average homeowner.

But, according to Pioneer, the monthly rate adjustment will mean a more competitive station in the gas exploration business.

Pioneer originally requested the monthly adjustment last fall. Currently, the company is allowed an annual adjustment of rates to meet the prices the company must pay for gas in the field.

Commissioners also learned Monday night that continual price rises in the construction industry are reeking havoc with city plans for construction of a new city hall complex.

Reviewing plans for the complex as presented by representatives of HD&R of Dallas, commissioners noted they will probably not be able to construct a new city hall complex and community center.

HD&R Representative Jay Bannister presented another cost estimate for the project.

The estimate indicates that if bids for construction are let in May as planned, construction of the city hall complex will cost $1,096 million. Construction of a community center building would add an additional $166,000 and site preparation would cost another $119,000.

Total project cost would be $1.6 million.

Loudder indicated the cost of the main building is a little high but said it will be no problem trimming items from the proposal to meet the city's needs and budget.

The price for the city hall complex "is not that far off," he said. "We're still in the ball park on the big building."

But, Loudder said he sees no way for the city to build the entire project.

To finance the project, Loudder noted that the city will use its nearly $600,000 in federal revenue sharing money and will probably have to figure out a $250,000 short-term debt service program.

Loudder assured commissioners that the city will use its revenue sharing money and will probably have to figure out a $250,000 short-term debt service program.

Survey Meet Set Tonight

Interested merchants and directors of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7 p.m. today at the community center to discuss whether to conduct a survey on retail merchandising in Canyon.

Bill Semmelbeck, professor in the West Texas State University school of business, will be on hand to discuss his proposed survey.

John Childs, chamber president, said the survey will be explained to merchants tonight with the hopes of gaining financial support.

A similar survey was accomplished by WTSU for businessmen in Friona last summer.

The survey is designed to give statistical analysis of the consumer dollar and where it is spent and how to merchandise so it will be spent locally.

All local merchants are invited to attend.

Kappa Delta sorority members admire an award won by a member at a recent scholarship awards dinner. Left to right are Rosan

Christian, Dell Bailey, Julie Fisher, and Brenda Taylor.

One More Week To Pay Taxes

Randall County residents who have yet to pay their 1973 ad valorem taxes to the city, county or school district have only a week to pay them before being charged penalty and interest fees for delinquency.

Between 80 and 85 per cent of all taxes due to the three local governing entities have been collected through 1973.

Conway Kuykendall, school-city tax assessor-collector, said he has collected 81 per cent of the taxes due the school district in 1973. As of Jan. 1, he had collected $952,000. Total tax roll for the school district is $1,172 million.

He said about 86 per cent of the city taxes due have been collected with $263,000 coming in from a total due of $318,000.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, Randall County tax assessor-collector, said she has collected 86 per cent of the total tax roll for the county.

Taxes are delinquent if unpaid after Feb. 1. At that time a penalty charge of 1 per cent of the tax and interest charge of 1/2 of 1 per cent are assessed for payments in February.

The penalty and interest assessment rises by 1/2 per cent each month until July when delinquent taxes are transferred to the delinquent tax roll. At that time, penalty and interest payments rise to 11 per cent.

Both school and county have attorneys on retainer to begin filing suit for delinquent taxes.

Jim Blair, assistant district attorney, has collected about $40,000 in delinquent taxes for previous years and is currently in the process of filing civil actions to recover more of the back taxes.

Registration Saturday For Constitution Course

Constitutional revision in Texas will be explored in a non-credit course especially geared for the layman which will be offered in a 10-week session beginning Saturday at West Texas State University.

"Revising the Texas Constitution: Proposals, Problems and Prospects" will be offered from 10 a.m. to noon each week. Registration is slated at 10 a.m. Saturday in the university complex south on campus. Enrollment fee is $10. No previous college work is necessary.

The course, to be offered by the WTSU political science department, is "especially designed for laymen who lack expertise in state government matters as well as for those who desire more information about the current movement in Texas to change the basic law," said Dr. Travis McBride, WT political science department head.

The political science faculty who will be teaching the Saturday sessions will receive regular reports from Austin to remain current with events unfolding in the revision process.

A panel discussion of community political leaders will conclude the course on March 21.

A section of the course will also be offered in Amarillo on Thursday evenings.

Further information about the course is available through the WT political science department and may be obtained by calling 656-2873.

County To Meet Friday On Roads

Randall County commissioners will have a special meeting at 1:30 p.m. Friday to discuss adoption of a new set of policies for construction of subdivision roads.

The policies, formulated by Amarillo Engineer Bill McMorris, are to be given developers in the county who are interested in having the county assume responsibility for road maintenance in their subdivisions.

Commissioners meet on the second floor of the Canyon courthouse.

GENE HOWE NEWS

Gene Howe Variety Night Monday

By TROYCE MULHERIN
SUNSHINE-WARM GREETINGS:

MONDAY NIGHTS THE night. At Gene Howe School. At seven o'clock. The big deal is the Variety Night entertainment. And, there is a real-ly big show planned for your enjoyment. Our students are busily brushing up on their various musical talents in preparation for this fun evening. Plan on about an hour and a half of guaranteed listening pleasure.

THERE WILL BE a very nominal charge of fifty cents. All sixth grade students are armed with tickets. Should you miss a sixth grader from whom to get your tickets, same will be available at the door. There is a very good reason for the ticket bit and the fifty cents charge — the music department is undertaking to raise enough funds with which to purchase a spotlight for the school. These jewels cost in the neighborhood of $300 to $350; that's a lot of fifty cent tickets!

SEVERAL TIMES DURING their tenure at Gene Howe each and every student finds himself/herself tromping across the stage. Gene Howe teachers are (fortunately for us) well aware of the benefits of involving the youngsters in plays and musicals and so forth. Wouldn't it be real nice to have a spotlight to shine on our little darlings whilst they are sharing this type of learning experience? Yes, it would. Let's help with this project. Besides, be selfish if nothing else — you know deep in your heart how much a spotlight would mean to your youngster — and, we will enjoy their pleasure as much as we enjoy their presentations.

SUNDAY, JANUARY 27TH is the big night for the bingo happening at Umbarger. This event is sponsored by the Canyon Band Parents Association, and plans are finalized for a fun night. The action starts at eight o'clock at the old school gym. For the paltry sum of two dollars, attendees will be entitled to twenty games of bingo and all the free popcorn they can eat. Coffee, cokes, pies and cakes will be available for munching. Yummy goodies will also be available from the bake sale that evening. A full night of playing and eating fun. Do go. That's the last Sunday of this month, the one coming up.

TWO DESERVING GENTLEMEN in the Gene Howe area have been honored with the highest award that the Boy Scouts of America can bestow upon an adult. The awards, the Silver Beaver, were presented to Charles Purcell and to Donald Glenn last Saturday evening during the 50th Annual Appreciation Banquet of the Llano Estacado Council held at the Caprock High School cafeteria.

MR. PURCELL WAS introduced to Scouting when he became a Boy Scout with a troop in Hereford in 1926; and, over the years has been continuously and actively involved in Scouting. He has served in many and various capacities, including positions as District Committee Member, District Commissioner and chairman of the Council Camping Committee. In receiving the Silver Beaver Charlie was recognized for his noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood and his dedication to the Scouting program. His active participation in church, civic, charitable and community work was also considered in his selection for this well-earned honor. Congrats, Charlie.

DONALD GLENN HAS been Institutional Representative of Troop 112 and was Den Dad of Pack 97, Canyon, Texas, in 1969. He is a holder of Wood Badge and Beads and served as Scoutmaster of Den Cole leadership. Don served on Council S.O.A.R. Committee in 1971 and was Scout-O-Rama chairman in 1971. Don also helped in planning the 1971 Camp-O-Ree at Philmont as Baden Powell staff member and is a Vigil honor member of the Order of the Arrow. Somewhere along the line, Don found the time to contribute immeasurably to his church activities and to involve himself in community and civic work. Mr. Glenn was also recognized for his noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood. Congrats, Don.

WE IN THE Gene Howe area are indeed fortunate to have such fine men in our midst — sharing their time and talents with our youth and our community. Thank you, gentlemen. Very much, we thank you.

OUR OWN SHERIE Cates presented the Silver Fawn award to Mrs. Billie Hayes during the banquet. As many of you will recall, Sherie was the very first, the very first ever, woman receiving the Silver Fawn. The Silver Fawn is the highest award the Boy Scouts can bestow upon a woman.

A WHOLE "NEW DEAL" commenced last Monday at Gene Howe. We now have a fourth fifth grade teacher, namely, Mr. Charles Dowell. Mr. Dowell has previously served as a student teacher at Gene Howe, so he is already familiar with the youngsters and the faculty. Our carpeted portables should be in place and ready for Mr. Dowell and his students in a few weeks. In the meantime, they are utilizing part of the fifth and sixth grade hallway. Since Monday marked the dawning of a new semester, the decision was made to initiate this needed change in the program immediately. There will be no changes made in home-room assignments. Mr. Dowell will be giving individualized instruction in small groups in reading and spelling. He will instruct all the fifth graders in social studies.

A TENTATIVE SCHEDULE for the fifth grade classes was given to parents attending last Friday's meeting at the school. There are some extras available for parents who were unable to attend. Just ask for one, and ye shall receive. Also, any questions you have concerning the changes will be answered with a call to the school.

A LOT OF thought and planning have gone into this undertaking — all for the sole purpose of benefiting our children. That's the name of the game at Gene Howe, and we surely appreciate Mr. Dowell, as well as the other faculty members.

CALL DARLENE FINKE for one of the handy, dandy band calendars and to place an order for the gift paper and ribbon. Her number is 352-2971.

THE SIXTH GRADE team

Canal Family Studies At WT

It's more than 2000 miles from the steamy jungles of the Panama Canal Zone to the plains of the Golden Spread, but three members of a Zone-based family have made the trip to get a college education, starting a unique tradition.

Nineteen-year-old James St. John, a sophomore Business major, is the third member of his family to attend West Texas State. The first to leave Panama was Charles. He graduated in 1971 with a major in Management. He is about to complete a two-year tour with the Army armored corps.

That St. John was followed by Donald, who graduated last year with a Business degree. He went on active duty after completing the four-year Reserve Officer's Training Corp program and signed up for, yes, duty with the tankers.

coached by George McCurry, who is assisted by Dave Miller, has started its season with a win of 38-1 over St. Andrews. The team played basketball as well as it looked. The boys received gold and blue shirts from Kids, Inc.; their coaches acquired some nifty blue britches with a gold stripe; and Melvena Brown located some long white socks with blue and gold bands. The weekend was assigned to the helping of the newer Scouts in the troop in the earning of the Tenderfoot Badge. A three-mile hike, with pack, is a badge requirement and was accomplished. (Now we know why it is called the "Tenderfoot" badge). The youngsters had to put up their own tents and do their own cooking, all of which is part of the fun of Scouting. The group indulged in a tall tale contest, which was won by Allen Tomes. (Bet that was a goodie!)

BROKEN BONES HAVE been known to accompany sliding-on-the-ice type fun in which youngsters are prone to indulge. Such activity earned Jay Edwards a broken collar bone. His mom relates that this injury hasn't served to slow Jay down very much, but a wish for a speedy healing process is sent your way, Jay.

HURRY-UP-AND-get well wishes are sent to Juanita Hall, who recently underwent surgery at Northwest Texas Hospital.

THE THIRD GRADE team co-coached by Larry Brooks and Bob Morgan won 6-0 over Ridgecrest last week. The team will play Oakdale this Friday. Betcha it wins again. Hope to have a list of players for you next week.

THE THIRD GRADE team coached by Leonard Schmidt, who is assisted by George Schmidt, won 25-8 over Margaret Wills. Team players are Russell Schmidt, Greg Persall, Kevin Wright, Kurt Balke, Kevin Smith, David Coleman, Dewayne Hollis, Jason Bass, Mike Longhofer, Gary Evans and Scott Powers.

THE AMARILLO AREA Council held a PTA Committee meeting on a special last week at the school administration building. Steve Gurgendy, Sgt. Brewer of the Amarillo Police Department; Eddie Osborn of Bill's Safety Company; Van Cook and Allen Monroe of the Amarillo Traffic Engineering Department; Lamar Lively; Kenneth Skinner; Don Johns, who is the PTA Car Pool Chairman; joined with a representative of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce in presenting various ways and means of insuring safety for children walking or riding bikes to school on dark days.

SUGGESTED PRE-VENTATIVE STEPS included utilizing adult participation, such as an adult walking with a group of children; an adult driving more than one or two children; and adult-types serving as voluntary crossing guards. The use of light-reflecting tape on the youngsters as well as on their bikes was urged; as well as the use of flashlights and the wearing by the children of light-reflecting arm bands and vests. The wearing of light colored clothing was stressed over dark coats, etc. Hopefully, with parental help, many of the hazards of dark days can be minimized.

ONE GENTLEMAN ON the panel shared the story of the little girl who came rushing into her first class tardy. She exclaimed to her teacher, "I'm sorry I'm late. I missed the bus last night." (Probably does seem like "last night" to a lot of the youngsters).

THE FIFTH GRADE team coached by Ronnie Bailey started off its season with a game against Lamar Red and played Graves Christian at the Y.W.C.A. winning 18-8. Buster Carlile serves as assistant coach. Team members are Mike Bailey, Mike Bell, Al Conlan, Scott Davis, Stan Ely, Tim Stokes, Wayne Wallace, Darrell Hawkins, Albert Kindle and Roger Robertson.

THAT CHARMING CINDY Todd became a teenager on the 15th and celebrated with a swimming party. Lisa Erwin, Traci Bufkin, Janice Delaney, Cyndy Hair, Gloria Stevens, Tawney Henderson and Sandy Warwick joined with Cindy and her mom, Arlean, for a night at the Villa Inn. The ladies particularly enjoyed dining at the Inn's restaurant and, naturally, gave the ol' pool a long workout.

HAPPY ARE DUE, too, to Vincent Ramaekers, who birthed on the 20th, and to the Chief, Luther Lawless, who parted on the 20th.

CINDY JOHNSON ALSO birthed on the 20th; hope all your wishes come true, Cindy.

BIRTHDAY WISHES TO Betty Dozier as of the 21st and to Stephanie Weatherford on the 22nd.

ROBERT CLARK'S FOURTH grade boys won over Panhandle with a score of 10-8 last week. Buster Carlile serves as assistant coach. Team members are Steve Wilson, Danny Clark, Donnie Trammell, Tim Carlile, Dean Oswald, Charlie Cox, John Hanson, Cody Owens, Steve Stokes, Jeff Pike and Mike Meyers.

MORE THAN ONE learning experience is available to our youngsters on these dark days. After all, the teacher could bundle her charges up and take them out to see the sun rise.

IS ANYBODY GETTING any sleep?

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall.

Demonstration Club

Discusses Constitution

Members of the Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club met recently to hear Dr. Walter Shelly of West Texas State University speak about the proposed changes in the Texas Constitution.

Dr. Shelly, of the political science department at WTSU, talked about the possible effects of any changes in the Constitution, and urged all club members to take advantage of the non-credit course on the Constitution that is offered at the university.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bill Head. The next meeting was set for this week at the Farm Bureau Building.

WT Buffaloes On Road Trip

West Texas State University's Buffalo basketball team starts the second of three road trips to be played in a row tonight in Tulsa.

The Buffaloes face the University of Tulsa Golden Hurricane tonight in what will be their second Missouri Valley Conference game of the season. The Buffs earlier defeated North Texas State, 67-65, in Amarillo.

West Texas fell in its first road trip—losing 88-58 to the University of Houston Saturday night and 69-66 Monday night to Pan American.

Tulsa has lost three conference games and won only one, but the Hurricane have a fine 11-4 overall record for the season. Tulsa lost in home games to Louisville, 78-75; Wichita State, 81-79; and New Mexico State, 80-75, in conference play before halting North Texas State on the road, 90-89.

Even though Tulsa fell upon some bad times in MVC play at home, earlier wins at Tulsa were over Iowa State, 79-69; Arkansas, 95-72; Pan American, 108-74; Houston Baptist, 94-73; Northeast Louisiana, 84-72; St. Cloud State, 103-85; and Oklahoma City, 91-83.

Tulsa also defeated Pan American, 106-97, in the Pan American Classic. Also at the Pan American Classic Tulsa beat Texas A&M, 88-67. The other loss was a season opener 72-54 decision to Oklahoma State.

Veteran guard Willie Biles, who led the MVC in scoring last year, is pacing the Tulsa squad with a hot 26.5 scoring average. Junior college transfer Ken Smith is next with a 16.1 average and Sammy High, another returning All-MVC selection, is scoring 15.1 points per game.

The Buffaloes travel from Tulsa to Bradley for a 12 noon game Saturday, which is the MVC television game of the week. Bradley will carry a 9-4 record into the Saturday contest and is 2-1 in MVC play.

Umbarger Man Buys Oil Co.

Roscoe Richardson of Umbarger has purchased the Brasher Oil Co. of Canyon.

The purchase, which included all Brasher property including trucks and tanks, was effective Tuesday.

Richardson, who owns and operates Umbarger Farm Supply Inc., said no changes in personnel are anticipated. He said the company will be tentatively called Farm Supply.

The Canyon operation will continue in business as usual, Richardson said, and offices will be maintained at the Canyon as well as the Umbarger locations. Richardson will retain his office at Umbarger.

No changes are anticipated either in the delivery of fuel for area farmers, he said.

Both Umbarger Farm Supply and Brasher Oil are jobbers.

Plan. . .

storing old monuments and landmarks, one for horizons, such as plans for continuing activities, and one for a festival.

Guy said some ideas have already been tossed around on what locals can do to celebrate the nation's birthday.

One idea involves the restoration of the old Tee Anchor ranch house north of Canyon on WTSU property.

Another involves the establishment of the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame in Buffalo Courts on the campus. The courts, he said, are the oldest standing buildings in Texas erected for sports purposes.

Another idea would involve a rotating Western Art show by local artists.

Many of the activities and plans would begin now and continue through 1976 and perhaps beyond. Others, such as the festival, would be planned during 1976 to highlight the anniversary date.

Spelling Bee

The Randall County spelling bee will be at 4 p.m. March 20 in the Canyon Junior High auditorium, according to Bee Director Mrs. Chris Thomas.

Participants in the county bee will be winners of the Gene Howe and Rex Reeves elementary school bees to be conducted this winter.

County Eyes Metro Future

Randall County Sheriff Cliff Longest, stressing the need for a Metro Intelligence Unit, predicted Monday that the City of Amarillo will continue to participate in the unit even though a recent report of that city's police department was critical of the unit.

Longest, asked by county commissioners to make a report on the status of the Metro squad, told them Monday afternoon a similar squad is much needed for law enforcement in the metropolitan area.

Commissioners generally agreed with Longest, but questioned how effective a metro-type unit could be without support from the Amarillo Police Department.

"I don't think they'll pull out," Longest said, after telling commissioners of a consultant's report which advised that Amarillo should withdraw support of the unit.

"Well, united we stand," commented Commissioner Bill Butler.

Longest said new resolutions passed recently by the board of governors of the metro unit should make the unit more effective in combatting crime.

The resolutions, made public last month, call for the unit to be an independent operation, separate from the Amarillo Police Department.

"I agree on the need for it, but I question how effective it can be," Butler said.

Longest noted that personnel from the Deaf Smith County sheriff's office have joined the squad and that the Moore County sheriff has also asked to participate.

Registration Up

West Texas State University's Spring semester registration figures rose with the temperature last week. A seige of fog and ice led to slick roads in the Panhandle during the second week in the month, nipping the second semester enrollment.

At the close of business, Monday, West Texas' registrar Dr. Donald Cates announced 6,064 had enrolled in on and off-campus courses. Cates attributes the good showing to warm conditions last week and the waiving of late registration fees through last Friday.

Three hundred and eighty-one of those who signed up are involved in the Division of Continuing Education courses. Over 100 of those part-time students are attending night classes in the division's Amarillo Center — James Bonham Junior High School. Others are attending classes in Pampa, Clarendon, Plainview, Dumas and Borger.

Services Held For City Man

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Thomas Ferman McKinney, 67, a 26-year resident of Canyon who died Monday at his home at 1208 Eighth Ave.

Born in Santa Anna, Tex. on Aug. 2, 1906, McKinney moved to Canyon from Tulsa. He was employed for 25 years as a purchasing agent for Kerr Paper Company of Amarillo.

Funeral services were held at the Central Church of Christ with Dwyane Dennis, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery.

Palbearers were Ed Bourne, Clayton Kelley, Wayne McNeill, J. D. Kerr, Cecil O'Donnell and Jerry B. Roberts.

Survivors include his wife, Jewel, of the home; three daughters, Mrs. James Duncan of Amarillo, Mrs. Max Quinn of Port Arthur and Mrs. Terry Brown of Friona; three brothers, James W. of Fort Worth, John H. and C. Walter, both of San Angelo; one sister, Mrs. W. A. Miller of 701 25th St. in Canyon, and nine grandchildren.

Relatives request that memorials be directed to the American Cancer Society or the High Plains Children's Home.

Former WTSU Dean Dies

Funeral services are slated at 4 p.m. today for Mrs. Geraldine Robinson Green, 80, former English professor and dean of women at West Texas State University. Mrs. Green died Tuesday at LaCasa Convalescent Home in Canyon.

Born in Harrisville, West Va. on Oct. 15, 1893, Mrs. Robinson came to Canyon in 1928 from Charleston, W. Va. She served as dean of women at WTSU from 1928 until 1947.

She was a member of the Episcopal Church in Canyon, the DAR, Delta Kappa Gamma, and numerous professional teaching organizations.

Funeral services will be conducted in the chapel of St. George in the Episcopal University Student Center. The Rev. Jim Bethell, chaplain at the center, will officiate.

Burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery.

Palbearers include Milton Morris, Ples Harper, A. K. Knott, Jack Taylor, Tom McOwan and K. E. Hines.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Joe Findley, 300 10th St.; one sister, Nell Robinson of Harrisville, W. Va., and two grandchildren.

Relatives request that memorials be directed to Opportunity Plan, Inc. at WTSU.

But, he said, too, that effectiveness of the unit would be dependent on the participation by Amarillo.

Commissioners suggested they talk with Amarillo city commissioners about participation when the representatives of Canyon, Amarillo, and Potter and Randall counties meet next month.

In other business Monday, commissioners agreed to pave sometime in the future a one mile road which would link a proposed eastern extension of Hunsley Road north of Canyon to the north side of West Texas State University.

Texas Highway Department official Jack Light requested the commission indicate their willingness to pave the road, an action which would also pave the way for the department to proceed with plans for construction of Hunsley Road from the Canyon expressway to Washington Street.

Light told commissioners their concurrence on the paving of the additional cars generated on an overpass at the intersection will affect the quality of air in Canyon.

Timmons indicated the EPA requirement is a new mandate, coming after formal approval of the project from all agencies concerned. The construction is set for bidding in March and expected to be completed maybe next winter.

Timmons said the air quality study will involve "going out and sampling the impurities in the air and then saying we have so much traffic here and that this will generate so much more traffic and what impact that will have when it all happens."

Timmons noted that with the renowned West Texas wind, the EPA requirement is at best unneeded.

"We have no air pollution problem here," he said. "The wind blows it all away."

But, Timmons groaned, the mandate is a requirement which must be fulfilled before funds can be turned loose for the construction of the overpass.

The requirement, he said, is the same for West Texas as it is for "downtown Los Angeles."

While it is possible the study might delay the bidding for the overpass, Timmons said he believes it can be accomplished and approved in time for the March opening date.

of things stirred up but I'd like to see us use the only leverage we've got and that's the salary grievance committee," said one of the women.

Another said she might call for a meeting after checking with her department head.

The salary grievance committee is newly established under state law to hear employee's grievances concerning salaries. Membership on the committee includes several county residents who do not work for the county.

County Clerk Hutton defended Mason's salary, saying the young graduate of Amarillo College has the responsibility to justify the salary.

Hutton said before hiring Mason he was seeking a man with college experience who had some experience with computers and accounting procedure.

Hutton said he doesn't think he could hire anyone with the qualifications needed to fill the position for less than what he's been paying Mason.

"I feel like he's getting what he should be getting," Hutton said.

Hutton said Mason's job included handling probate matters for county court and keeping bookkeeping records of all money transactions in the clerk's office.

"I would pay a woman the same I pay him with the same qualifications," he said.

Mason's salary prior to action two weeks ago by county commissioners giving all county employees a 5.5 per cent wage hike was $500 monthly.

mile section is necessary to precipitate further action on plans for construction of Interstate 27 around the eastern edge of Canyon.

He said the department has been successful in gaining federal approval of an interchange at the Hunsley Road exit, provided the road is extended to the east. But, the approval is contingent on the county's agreement to pave the one mile segment which would link Hunsley Road to the university.

Light said funds will probably not stretch far enough to connect the east Hunsley Road extension with the Canyon expressway because construction of the road all the way to the expressway would entail building an overpass over an existing railroad track.

Commissioners also agreed to purchase about $600 in office equipment for the offices of Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector.

Kay said the engineers are also examining the prospects for keeping the water viable once in the lake.

One problem engineers are wrestling with is how to keep a minimum of water in the lake assuming that an outside source cannot be found. One alternative, he said, is construction of dikes in the lake to impound the water at certain stages for use by wildlife.

Quality of water in the lake is also an important consideration, he said. He noted that if fresh water is introduced in the lake now, it can be expected to degenerate to the state the water was in last summer when thousands of catfish died as a result of lack of oxygen.

The soil in the lake bottom is a problem he said, one which engineers are trying to solve currently.

The only solution, he said, is to get rid of the soil the lake, making it an undesirable fishing and leisure-time spot.

The lake was allowed to dry several years ago and then restocked with fish as the water level rose.

But high algae content in the lake last summer caused another massive fish kill and spurred regional officials to begin contemplating what to do with the lake.

Ferguson had been fearful his appropriation for operation of the refuge would be cut severely this fiscal year.

Eagles Win First Half Of Dist. Play With Wins

The Canyon Eagles won the first half of their district basketball play Tuesday night by downing the Levelland Lobos 84-66.

The win assures the Eagles of at least a chance at the district crown by granting them a berth in a district play-off game should some other team win the second half of play.

For Coach B.B. Kendrick, the hope is that the Eagles can win the district championship outright by using the same kind of pressure play they've used this first half to topple their district opponents.

Kendrick is optimistic about the Eagles' chances at the crown. The Eagles downed Muleshoe 58-41 Friday night in a district game to set up the Levelland win.

Tuesday night, Canyon's Andy Cooper pulled 19 rebounds down from the boards to set the pace for the winning Eagles, in a performance Kendrick credits with providing the turning point in the game.

Wayne Pitt hit 30 points for the winners, 28 of them from the field. Cooper hit 15 and Ed Lair hit 14 with Lynn Wright hitting 10 for the Eagles.

The Eagles took an early lead in the Levelland contest, scrambling to a 22-10 margin at the end of the first period. The lead was expanded to 20 points during the

Married Man But He's Poor

A Randall County man recently married and almost spent his honeymoon in jail.

The man, placed on five months' probation, was charged with swindling by worthless check after several local merchants brought hot checks to the district attorney's office.

The groom-to-be had apparently written hot checks for a wedding cake, wedding flowers, a wedding suit and then a rock band to play at his wedding.

The checks totalled about $400.

The man was told to make restitution on the checks and was fined $1 plus court costs of $48.

second stanza and at the end of the first half Canyon held a 45-25 edge.

In action against Muleshoe, Canyon's Pitt hit 22 points to emerge as high-point man for the birds, followed by Cooper with 17.

Kendrick, reflecting over the district action so far, said the turning point was the Eagle win over Dumas several weeks ago.

Levelland was originally picked to win the district crown by area coaches, but Kendrick believes he can change that prediction with his fast-paced Eagles.

The Canyon five take on Perryton in another district outing Friday night at Perryton.

"Our kids are playing real well now," he said. "They're putting it together."

JUST SEVEN OUNCES of cooked lean Beef provides 100 per cent of an average adult's daily protein need.

BEEF IS ONE of the best sources of iron, B-vitamins, and essential trace elements.

BEEF IS FOR "weight-watchers" too. The seven ounces that provides all of an adult daily protein supplies only twenty two per cent of the recommended calories.

DUE TO THE Beef Industry's production efficiency, beef prices have increased only a third over the past twenty years. During the same period, take-home pay of the average American has increased more than 100 per cent.

LAUGH WITH US: A survey of women attending a meeting to protest deceptive packaging revealed:

15 per cent tinted their hair

80 per cent wore rouge

25 per cent had on eye shadow
22 per cent false eyelashes

Local Named Manager For Phone Co.

Gary Cook of Canyon has been promoted to manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Wichita Falls.

A native of Canadian, he was graduated from Canyon High School. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from West Texas State University at Canyon in 1970, then entered graduate school and was awarded a Master of Business Administration degree in 1972. He had previously been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the army reserve.

Cancer Crusade Plans Outlined

Local workers in the annual American Cancer Society Crusade will have a goal of $6000 to collect in Canyon this year.

Last year, the society crusade collected $5,325 in Canyon.

The advance drive for special gifts begins March 4-8 with Benny Cooper as chairman.

Business drive will be March 18-22 with Mary Alice Hines in charge. Jane Wheeler will head up the residential drive on April 1-5.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth will chair the drive on the West Texas State University campus.

THE UMBARGER 4-H Club met Monday evening in the Columbus Club Hall. Dianna Adams, daughter of the LaDean Adams won a $250 4-H scholarship toward her college education at the college of her choice. The scholarship was given by Mesa-Agro, Inc. to an outstanding senior 4-H Club member. Those club members, who participated in the Randall County Livestock show, were recognized at the meeting. Plans were made for a meeting and skating party on February 17. A telephone committee will contact club members with the details a little later on. Tammy Adams, from Amarillo, was a guest. Club members decided to present a puppy to the Miller children who lost their puppy in the fire that destroyed their home last week. Refreshments were served to about 39 members by Mesdames LaDean Adams and Carroll Adams.

WE HAD AS Sunday evening dinner guests Elaine Ramaekers, Janet Wilhelm, Donna and Linda Hartman, Ken and Larry Hartman, Mike and Margaret Browder, and Mary and Les Goodin, from Amarillo, who helped Kevin celebrate his birthday. After supper the Don Raef family from Amarillo, the

Texas Heritage Art Used For Directory Covers

A painting featuring elements representative of the history of Texas will highlight the cover of the new Canyon-Amarillo telephone directory which will be delivered beginning Jan. 31.

The painting, "Our Texas," by Edward Herbes, represents Texas of all faiths, races and cultural backgrounds and their historical achievements, said Mike Patrick, manager for Southwestern Bell.

Patrick added that delivery of the directories should be completed within 10 days of the start.

The number of listings for Canyon telephones in the directory has increased by approximately 180 since the last directory, Patrick added.

The basic concept of the unique "Our Texas" painting is a scroll representing the documents of Texas liberty, entwined by a red, white and blue ribbon to symbolize the historic patriotism of Texans.

Other significant articles include a military bugle depicting the impact of military forces on Texas history, a colt revolver for the Texas lawman's edge over the bandit, a quill for the communications media and a school bell for the state's educational system.

"This painting," said artist Herbes, "has been in my mind for years and is a culmination of much research and travel throughout the state." Herbes also pointed out that choosing which articles to include in the painting was difficult because there is so much to the state's history.

Herbes, a retired Air Force colonel, uses the Flemish technique in painting "Our Texas." The Flemish style is similar to that of Rembrandt and others of his period. Herbes' technique today involves creating detailed sketches on masonite and "underpainting" in various shades to give the art its distinctive deep shadows. Oil colors are added in glazes after the underpainting dries.

Southwestern Bell commissioned Herbes to do the painting, which will be used on directory covers statewide.

Hawkins Recital Monday

The spring season of faculty recitals at West Texas State University begins Monday with a performance by bassoonist Alan Hawkins.

Performance time is 8 p.m. in the WTSU Fine Arts Theatre. Programmed for the recital are Saint Saens' "Sonata for Bassoon and Piano," Mozart's "Concerto in B Major," Frank Heintz' "Fanfare and Raga for Bassoon and Tape," Paul Ben-Haim's "Three Songs Without Words" and Burrill Phillips' "Concert Piece."

PALISADES PALAVER

By MILDRED TURNER
IF YOU HAVE a notion that my head looks a little flat on top it is because I rearranged my bedroom furniture this week, happened to get up in the middle of the night, and drowsily dived into the wrong corner! Perhaps I should start turning the light on. When I attacked my closet, inch by inch as I gained on it I began to make piles on the floor. One for Young People's garage sale, one for the attic (I hate to throw all those lovely hats away, they may come back in twenty years, so I added them to the pointed toes which may come in handy for a tacky party!). One large pile of trash. Some of those things which were darling last year look like trash this year. Do housewives ever get through? I do enjoy changing everything even if I suffer a flat top!

YOU KNOW, MARGIE Carlie has been pretty sick, almost had strep throat but is on the mend. She was telling that during the recent blackout she was in the middle of making chicken and dumplings so she had to finish up in the fireplace.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISHES to Susie Boothe who had hers on the 24th and Belva Winters' which comes on the 28th.

VISITED WITH VALORIE McClendon this week and she is having a decorator redo her house. Sure sounds like fun. Her baby daughter was sleeping, a real beauty like her mother. Valorie and I have a common interest which is flowers and plants, which we both have everywhere. In leaving, I told Valorie, as I looked down over the canyon, "I love this view."

IF YOU ARE cleaning out and have some things for a garage sale, our Young People are having one soon. They are also saving newspapers. The funds received are for summer camp, usually in July. Call and will pick up.

IF YOU NEED to renew your subscription to The Canyon News do so through me. It is $8.40 a year, two papers a week. You get Ann Brown's column on Sunday and mine on Thursday! Is good to line waste baskets, bird cages or rolled up can be used to spank and house train the puppy. SOME OF THE ladies are walking (for health and exercise) around the Palisades about 9:15 or 9:30 mornings. Those who have been walking are Estelle Atkinson, Reba Guess, Lena Edwards, Judy Webb and I've been going part-time. If you wish, join the lively walks and neighborly visiting as they come your way. It takes about forty-five minutes, sure perks up the day.

MAMA TURNER IS not doing well at all right now. My time is divided between her and Garland. The doctor is trying a new medication on G. I'm sure some of you have tried to call but don't give up, just call again.

I TALKED to our new president, Phil Boothe, Tuesday and he says the board is very busy making plans for several projects which you will hear about soon in a letter. I'm sure Dora Waldrop will keep me informed.

MRS. ROBERT C. Forster's guests over the holidays were her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edward Comer Jr. Ed is the son of Joseph E. Comer Sr. and the late Mrs. Joseph E. Comer. He was reared at Gainville, Texas; later living in Phoenix and San Diego. He is with Corral Industries, a company which builds large feedlots.

ROBERTA DEWEES FORSTER (we call her Robbie) was reared at Hempstead and Kerrville, Texas. She received her B.S. degree from West Texas State and taught two years at Lordsburg, New Mexico.

THIS ROMANCE STARTED when Robbie was librarian at Green Acres School in Dumas and Ed was doing a feedlot near by. They were married in the spring at the First Christian Church in Dumas.

MANY OF YOU already know this but I thought some might not, as we were out of town or had company about that time and I did not have the details. Although Mrs. Forster does not get to see them too often, they keep in close touch and she's happy because they are happy. We all wish the best success and happiness in their life together.

IF YOU MISS me, jot your news down and put in my mail box or door.

LAST WEEK AS the girls were studying for tests, I found this scribbled on a card: "Now I sit me down to study I pray the Lord I don't go nutty. Some is good and some in junk I pray the Lord, I will not flunk."

Now I lay me down to rest I fret about tomorrow's test; And if I die before I wake Tomorrow's test I will not take!"

Note at bottom: "This is not the Lord's Prayer but Belva's!" Author unknown. No one would admit it.

Arts And Entertainment Thru The Looking Glass

By ANN MELIN
The Roaring Twenties and the Boring Fifties are getting equal billing these days in the current nostalgia boom.

Television adaptations of F. Scott Fitzgerald's plays are followed hard upon by sitcoms based on "The Happy Days" of high school hops and '55 Chevys.

Going somewhere? Or been? The Canyon News wants to know about it — and so do its readers.

Dick Clark returns to television with a gallery of ghosts from the past. Old rock'n'roll stars of yesterday flash on the TV screen, then appear in person, their meticulously-groomed D.A.'s traded in for professionally-groomed dry looks.

Fashion also reflects the nostalgia craze. Cloche hats and the bobbed look of the Twenties are now considered spiffy. Saddle shoes of 1950's genre are "strictly invisible" and the pony tail may be cropping up any day. In combination, these two "looks" will no doubt produce grotesqueries among coeds who prefer to mix and match. But, perhaps proving that Americana has yet retained some of its esthetic sense in the wave, I've not seen a coed brazen enough to sport turned-down hose or bobby socks.

The Twenties and the Fifties were times when youth took the spotlight.

Flaming Youth in the Twenties had the fortune of having a chronicler who was also a reputable writer. Hence, it comes off a little better than the youth of the Fifties, about whom we can learn only from watching re-runs of American Bandstand and reading old teen magazines.

The Twenties Generation was bored, bored, bored, F. Scott tells us. They'd meet at the Ritz, dine on vichyssoise and talk about divine decadence.

The Fifties gang also tried hard to give the illusion of nonchalance and devil-may-care. They hung out at the local drive-in, munched on double-cheeseburgers and talked about the latest rumble in the parking lot.

The Twenties put the emphasis on youth being worldly-wise and au courant with all the latest intellectual trends. Hence, the rudiments of learning were essential to keep one's chair among one's proteges at the Ritz. In the Fifties, evidence of erudition wasn't all that necessary — it could even be dangerous. To know the working parts of a two-tone '55 Chev' and the complete lyrics to all the Top 40 Tunes was enough to stand any guy in good stead.

The Twenties youths were "A Lost Generation," as Gertrude Stein pointed out. When a flapper found herself separated from her beau, it wasn't unusual for her to receive long, introspective letters — all exuding boredom, of course.

In the Fifties, no one had to take up pen and over-tax their writing abilities. Lovers communicated through the local disc jockey. "This one goes out to Dwayne from Wanda Sue, to Martie from Mary Jo, to Ralph from Peggy Jean, to Estelle from Buddy and to all the gang at the Double Dip from you know who."

Both youth of the Twenties and youth of the Fifties revelled in the current cinema.

Movies were in their infancy in the Twenties. So novel were the kinetic images on the screen that Twenties youth didn't care what they saw so long as it showed their screen idols in motion.

The Fifties gang were keen on the flicks, too. They didn't care what they saw either. They were too busy making out.

The Twenties in-crowd relished doing things occasionally with "wild abandon." Like jumping in fountains or riding tricycles in the wee hours of the morning down the Left Banke.

The pubescent Fifties gang went in for neat-o things like freezing brassieres in ice trays at slumber parties and stealing hubcaps off '55 Chevys.

Music played a major part in both the lives of the Twenties and Fifties generations. Flappers and their fellas went slumming in Harlem, sat in smoke-filled dives listening to the black nobility of the music world — and tried to look bored.

The Fifties cat cruised out to lover's lane in his '55 Chev' hopping Paul Anka's "Put Your Head On My Shoulder" would be slipped onto the turntable at the precise point in time when the callow Casanova slipped his arm around his chick.

F. Scott and Zelda made the front page when they took dips in fountains, but critical reviews of the young writer's books sometimes appeared in the same issue.

In the Fifties, a guy could become an overnight star just by doing a smooth stroll on "American Bandstand." The same week, pin-up photographs of the cool cat appeared in the teen magazines, along with a big blurb on what the fella liked to find in a girl, what kind of foods he liked best (pizza and/or double cheeseburgers being the most common rejoinder) and what his favorite hobbies were (working on his '55 Chev' being a ubiquitous response to the latter).

It took the Great Crash and the accompanying Depression to quash the 1920's youth movement.

It took the Beatles to blast the Fifties Gang out of its hamburger hangout. As far as I've been able to figure out, the emergence of the four Liverpudlian lads with pudding bowl haircuts coincides with the date when the duck-tailed denizens of the Bandstand world drove their Chevies to the levies and found them dry.

But, am I being obtuse and downright narrow-minded in my comparison of the Fifties and Twenties Youth cultures?

You bet your cat's pajamas and blue suede shoes.

If there's one thing I've learned about nostalgia, it's that the malady hits those who either were in youthful blossom in those hallowed years or those who weren't yet born in that era but get their picture of the period from those who were in youthful blossom in those hallowed years.

I didn't SEE the Twenties. I heard only wistful reminiscences about its flaming youth from its burnt-out belles and beaus.

But, man, I SAW the Fifties. Along with my TV alter ego, Beaver Cleaver, I watched with a jaundiced eye as an older sibling went through its initiation rites. And The Beav and I pronounced it "creepy."

No doubt, we'll take a different view of the Sixties when the TV and movie men start delving into its arcana for entertainment.

Two Non-Credit Courses Due University Offering

Western civilization and the proposed Texas Constitution are the topics of two non-credit courses being offered in Amarillo during the spring semester by West Texas State University.

"The Rise and Development of Western Civilization" Part II is offered Thursdays from 7-9 p.m. at St. Andrews Episcopal Church.

"Revising the Texas Constitution: Proposals, Problems and Prospects" meets Thursday evenings at the First Christian Church. The course is also scheduled Saturdays from 10-12 a.m. in room 101 of the University Complex South on the Canyon campus.

The study of Western civilization is the second of a three part series. Part I was offered last fall.

Major emphasis of the course is on the 19th Century, covering topics from Napoleon and the Peace of Vienna to Romanticism in the Arts and Origins of World War I.

Members of the faculty from fine arts, history, physics, economics, English and philosophy will participate in the team-teaching effort.

The class will run from January 17 to May 2. Registration will be held the first night of class, and the fee is $15.

Part III of the course is tentatively scheduled for the fall semester of 1974, and will cover the 20th Century.

"Revising the Texas Constitution" is a ten-week course "especially designed for laymen who lack expertise in state government matters," says Dr. Travis McBride, head of the political science department, "as well as for those who desire more information about the current movement in Texas to change the basic law."

Instruction will be provided by eight WTSU faculty members who regularly teach Texas government.

"The proposed constitution contains about 13 articles," says McBride, and "is much smaller, therefore, than the document under which we presently operate, down from some 55,000 words to about 13,000 words."

"The proposal is still considerably larger than the United States Constitution," McBride added. "The U.S. Constitution is about 5,000 - 7,000 words."

Topics to be covered in the ten-week course include suffrage and education, finance, local government, and a concluding panel discussion composed of community political leaders.

Enrollment is $10, which may be paid before the start of class Thursday.

Late registration for both courses is permissible.

Police Request Parent Help In Bike Safety

The Canyon Police Department is asking for the cooperation of parents in safely equipping their children's bicycles with safety devices for riding in darkness.

The new Daylight Savings Time factor puts the children riding to school in the darkness. Complaints have been coming to the police department about the inability to see the bike riders on the way to school.

Parents are asked to cooperate by purchasing safety reflectors for the bicycles.

A check on the availability and price of reflectors shows that the standard reflector kit costs about $1.25.

The kit contains a white reflector for the front, a red reflector for the rear, and orange for the sides of the bike.

Generator lights which further illuminate the reflectors cost about $7 to $10.

The safety devices are available at most hardware or department stores.

A police department spokesman said that though bicycles are required to be equipped with reflectors, citations will not be issued at this time unless the bicycle is involved in an accident. Then the parent will be subject to responsibility and any citation issued as a result.

WT Hurdler To Run In Indoor Tourney

Carl Brown, West Texas State's standout hurdler, will run Saturday at Oklahoma City in the U.S. Track and Field Federation Indoor Championships.

Brown, a senior from Van Vleet, Tex., will run Saturday afternoon in the preliminaries and will compete Saturday night should he make the finals in the invitation-only meet.

The 6-1½ Buffalo senior has won the Missouri Valley Conference indoor hurdle events for the last three years and holds the record in both of the 50-yard hurdle events. At Oklahoma City he will compete in the 60-yard high hurdles.

Brown's best time in the 60-yard high hurdles was in 1973 when he ran 7.2.

Most of Brown's hurdle races inside have been for a 50-yard distance. The reason most of his hurdle races have been for 50 yards is because that is the event yardage for the Missouri Valley Conference indoor championships.

Brown's 50-yard indoor high hurdle record in the MVC is 6.1. He has covered the 50-yard intermediates in 6.0 for an MVC record.

The Buffaloes of coach Bob Kitchens opened their indoor season Saturday in Lubbock at the Lubbock Christian College Invitational. No official points were kept, but had the usual collegiate point total been kept, West Texas and Texas Tech would have tied at 68-all. The usual point totals are not doubled for relays and are six points for first place, four for second, three for third, two for fourth and one for fifth.

The Buffaloes won five events in the LCC meet. The Buff 880-yard relay team of Wayne Cure, Rick McGuire, Alvis Wright and Larry Marlar won that event. Marvin Self captured first in the shot with a 52-5 toss. Tommy Humphries pole-vaulted 14-6 for first. Wright won the 60-yard dash in 6.1 and George Fuller long-jumped 21-6½ for first.

New WT Coach Hired To Handle Defense

Leon Fuller, formerly the defensive coordinator at the University of New Mexico, has been hired in that same capacity at West Texas State University and Dean Rudd, who coached the linebackers for the past three years, is leaving the coaching profession to enter private business.

Head football coach and athletic director Gene Mayfield made the dual announcements Wednesday.

"We hate to lose a man like Dean as he is both an outstanding coach and person, but we are gaining a fine staff member in Leon," said Mayfield.

The hiring of Fuller completes the West Texas State football coaching staff, which is now one less than was used last fall. Secondary coach Bobby Thompson resigned earlier to take the head coaching job at Northwest Oklahoma State.

"The new NCAA limitations on scholarships, plus the energy shortage which will cut back travel for freshman teams, lessens the need for a full time coach working only with the freshmen," said Mayfield. "For this reason we will reorganize the staff and cut our coaching group by one."

Rudd, who started coaching in 1963 at Tulia, has worked under coach Mayfield since 1966. He moved with Mayfield from Odessa Permian High School to West Texas State in 1970. He is going to work for a construction company in Odessa.

Fuller, who has been out of coaching for two years and is in private business in San Diego, Calif., plans to arrive on the West Texas State campus in about one week. He has an outstanding background as both a player and coach.

Capers Square Dance With New Callers

The Canyon Capers Square Dance Club met recently to the calling of Audrey Brown.

Guest tips for the dance were by Leroy Pitt, Lewis Thomas and Vince Thomas.

Caller Knox Day returned to the club after an illness. He called the tip at the event to graduate new members of the club.

Visitors at the dance were Wayne and Betty Glover from Colorado, and Vince and Jessie Thomas from Reddy Square Dance Club.

Canyon Band Parents Plan Game Night

The Canyon Band Parents have scheduled a game night for Sunday at the old Umbarger gym.

The event will begin at eight p.m. with a two dollar admission charge for each person.

Prizes, free popcorn, and musical entertainment will highlight the activities, with a bake sale and refreshments to bring in money for the organization.
